PAY OF CHARACTER WITNESSES STOPS

Attorney General's Department Holds Fees and Mileage Illegal.

Austin, Tex., April 13.—Thousands of dollars would be saved the state, according to controller Lane, by the ruling made today by the attorney general's department through assistant attorney general Meade, in which it is held that character witnesses in felony cases, whether subpoenaed, summoned or attached, are not entitled to fees. Here-fore the state has paid such witnesses fees at the rate of $1 per day and 3 cents mileage.

Judge Meade holds that by the adoption of the new revised code of criminal procedure by the last legislature, as compiled by the codifiers, no provision is made to pay such witnesses. After quoting the law, judge Meade advised the controller: "You are therefore advised that in our opinion you would not be justified in passing for payment any claims for witness fees in felony cases where the witness was brought into court and testified solely as a character witness."

No-Rim-Cut Tires

(10% Oversize)

No Extra Price

Goodyear No-Rim-Cut tires now cost no more than other standard tires.

They used to cost one-fifth extra.

Since the reduction, these tires outsell any other tires in existence.

These are patented tires—tires that can't rim cut—tires 10 per cent oversize.

They save all the worry and ruin of rim-cutting. And the oversize adds, under average conditions, 25 per cent to the tire mileage.

Countless users have proved this.

One Million Sold

Over one million of these patent tires have now gone into use. They have been used, perhaps, on some 200,000 cars.

The result of that use is this:

The demand in two years has multiplied six times over. It is larger now than for any other tire.

Goodyear tires are used this year by 127 makers of cars.

This is due to the fact that No-Rim-Cut tires cut tire bills in two. Rim-Cutting is ended entirely. And the oversize means an over-tired car.

These tires—made by the greatest of tire makers—the final result 18 years spent in tire making—are tires that you should know. We have them. Come and see them. Judge them for yourself.

Real Lesson In Economy At the University Of Texas

HALL OF DOMESTIC ECONOMY OF UNIVERSITY AT AUSTIN.

AUSTIN, Texas, April 13.—On the campus of the University of Texas, a building has been erected which is a cross between a country school house and an open air pavilion. It is not used as a garage, but as the "Hall of Domestic Economy," in which the young women of the university are to be taught the latest and most scientific methods of home management. The picture of the building demonstrates the economy, all right.

For the last three years the class rooms at the university have been crowded to their utmost capacity and the increased enrollment of this year made the securing of additional room an absolute necessity. It was thought that the completion of the new library would leave the old one to be used for class rooms, but as the construction of the library was brought to a halt by the action of Gov. Colquitt in vetoing the money appropriated for that purpose, the regents of the university have been forced to place this temporary structure upon the campus as a make shift.

The cost of the building was $1000. It will continue in use until sufficient funds are supplied by the state for the construction of adequate buildings.

SECRETARY FISHER DEFENDS PRESIDENT

In Speech in Nebraska, Declares Him to Be Safe and Sound.

Lincoln, Neb., April 13.—Speaking here last night in support of president Taft's administration, secretary Walter L. Fisher, of the interior department, declared that "absolutely regardless of the bricks that are thrown from either side," the president had pressed forward toward the goal of "accomplishment of real measures for the advancement of the interests of the whole people."

"You can be pretty sure," said secretary Fisher, "that any public man in the middle of the road when he is attacked by big business upon one side and by those who are seeking to advance their personal interests by attacking big business upon the other."

Mr. Fisher said he had entered president Taft's cabinet "because nothing but a lack of confidence in the sincerity and high purpose of president Taft would justify a refusal of his call."

Was For Roosevelt. "I became president of the Conservation League of America at the suggestion of Mr. Roosevelt and Gifford Pinchot," he said. "I was for the colored and for president when he was only a lieutenant colonel. In 1898 when he had not yet been nominated for governor of New York, I was one of a little group of enthusiasts in the city of Chicago, who flung to the breeze a banner inscribed 'For President in 1898, Theodore Roosevelt.'"

"I understand senator La Follette has recently told you that he came to Nebraska because Nebraska people are progressive," said Mr. Fisher. "That is the reason I have come to Nebraska. I claim to be a progressive Republican and I wish to say something to you about the so-called 'progressive' policies and their relation to the Republican nomination for president."

"I believe that the position of president Taft with respect has been misunderstood. I myself have had the distinction of being under suspicion by both radicals and reactionaries. My claim to being a progressive is based, not upon mere advocacy of the progressive policies in a theoretical and academic way, but to practical efforts to secure definite results, especially in the movement for the short ballot, the direct primary, the referendum and the recall."

Taft, a Progressive. Secretary Fisher said president Taft had taken a progressive attitude upon all these questions.

"He believes in reducing the number of elective officers, which is the 'short ballot,'" he said. "He believes in the direct primary and in the preferential preference at the direct primary; he believes in the increasing but conservative use of the referendum and the only application of the recall which he has opposed is the recall of judges."
